Gen. Wheaton Given a Special Assignment and Gen. Funston Succeeds Him—Tarlac the Latest Insurgent Capital.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
NEW YORK, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Sun's Manila cablegram dated May 20, says Gen. Del Pilar and Graciano Gonzales, members of the Filipino Cabinet, Lieut.-Col. Alberto Barretto, military advocate, and Maj. Zelig, member of Aguinaldo's staff, arrived here this morning, to cooperate with Florentino Torres, Pablo Ocampo and Theodor Yanco, residents of Manila, as a commission to negotiate peace. They are now holding a consultation.

Thousands of natives are returning on boats to the captured cities, even to Malabon and Manila. They say they desire peace, and that they no longer fear the Americans.

Thursday a Spanish priest returned with many families, begging protection. He reported 200 insurgents deserted Candaba Wednesday, retreating toward Mount Arayat, ten miles to the north. He also said that the natives believed that the archbishop was aiding the Americans, hence their increased hatred of the Spaniards. The priest declares that the native government is better than is generally believed. The taxes are reasonable and the government paid its workmen and other inhabitants for their services as agreed, but all fear marauders.

Thursday night the insurgents looted and burned San Luis. They also cut off a signal detachment which was reinforced by an army tug today. Col. Kobbé remains at Candaba, awaiting orders to advance up the river to meet Gen. Lawton, who is marching south from San Isidro. Gen. MacArthur remains at San Fernando.

The Nebraska regiment returned to Manila today for rest, they having been on the firing line since February 4. The regiment participated in twenty-seven engagements, including skirmishes, and lost 226 killed and wounded.

SAME OLD "ARMISTICE."

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
MANILA, May 20, 10:45 a.m.—Two military and two civil Filipino commissioners, appointed to cooperate with three citizens of Manila in negotiating terms of peace, arrived here at 8:15 a.m. today.

They have submitted no new proposition, but want an armistice, pending the session of the Filipino congress. Maj.-Gen. Otis has refused to entertain the proposal.

LUNA'S DESPERATE EFFORTS.

He Arrests Officials Who Were to Join Peace Commissioners.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
MANILA, May 19, 6:30 p.m.—[By Manila Cable.] Gen. Luna is reported to be making desperate efforts to restrain the educated Filipinos within the limits of his self-appointed jurisdiction from communicating with the Americans, even to arresting Buenavista and Herrera, two of the most influential officials while on their way to Malolos to join those who are coming via San Isidro, today.

This, and the removal of the seat of government to Tarlac, thirty miles north of San Fernando, may lead to complications and delay in the pacification. But it is generally conceded that further opposition to American sovereignty is useless and ridiculous. Neither Gen. Luna nor Gen. Pio del Pilar have sufficient force to resist or to compel submission.

Gen. Wheaton has been relieved of the command of the Second Division for a special assignment, and Gen. Funston has been assigned to his brigade.

CALIFORNIA "VOLS."

GEN. CORBIN THINKS THEY WILL BE COMING SOON.

Dispatches Expected Any Moment Now Stating That the Fighters Have Left Manila for Home—An Artillery Detachment to Start About the Same Time as the First Regiment.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Atty.-Gen. Corbin said today that he felt absolutely sure that the California volunteers would sail from Manila for home in a couple of days or so. Gen. Otis sets no definite date for the start, but Gen. Corbin said the department expected dispatches at any time, stating that the regiment had started. A detachment of California artillery will start about the same time as the First California Infantry. The Second Oregon Regiment will come soon thereafter.

Transporters Hancock, Indiana, and Conemaugh, now at Manila, and troops Senator, Ohio, Newport, Warren and Morgan City are due to arrive at Manila in a few days. So in the course of the next ten days, Gen. Otis will have a sufficient number of ships to send four or five regiments home.

COVERED WITH GLORY.

The Sixth United States Regiment Going to Manila.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19.—Co. A of the Sixth United States Infantry arrived here today from San Antonio, Tex., and at once took up quarters on board the transport Sherman, which will carry the whole regiment from here to Manila, leaving next Monday.

The rest of the regiment, with Col. Kellogg in command, will reach here some time tomorrow.

The Sixth is quite a famous regiment, having covered itself with glory at the battle of San Juan Hill. In that historic charge Co. A lost its captain and four enlisted men, and had twenty men wounded. Most of the non-commissioned officers now with the company took part in that battle.

The soldiers are provided with one year's equipment for service in the tropics, and each man carries 100 rounds of ammunition.

THOSE SPANISH PRISONERS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

MADRID, May 19.—The Epoca, Conservative, today quotes the Minister of Foreign Affairs, the Marquis Pidal, as making the following statement: "The negotiations for the release of the Spanish prisoners in the Philippine Islands has failed; the pacification of the Philippines must now be awaited before further steps can be taken."

BRIG.-GEN. GRANT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

SAN DIEGO, May 19.—Brig.-Gen. Fred D. Grant arrived in the city today with his brothers, Ulysses and Jesse Grant, for a short visit. He leaves tomorrow for San Francisco en route to Manila.

A QUARTERMASTER-SERGEANT IS KILLED.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
TUCSON (Ariz.), May 19.—The Sixth United States Infantry from San Antonio, destined for Manila, passed through Tucson this afternoon. While a section of the train was at this depot, William Abell, quartermaster-sergeant, while crossing the track, tripped and fell. A switch engine ran over him, mauling the body terribly. Death was instantaneous.

BOUGHT BY BRITISHERS.
Cotton-yarn Mills of Bristol County, Mass., Alienated.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TAUNTON (Mass.), May 19.—The News today says:

"The offer of the English capitalists to buy all the cotton-yarn mills of Bristol county has been accepted by a majority of the stockholders in all the mills. The present treasurers and superintendents have been assured that the mills are to be operated under their management as heretofore, and the purchase is made purely as an investment."

"The actual bonds to be paid above par value is $2,455,000, and the total amount of which the present stockholders will receive is $8,460,000."

UNION OF ALL.

Czar Hopes to Federate the Nations.

Tribunal to Meet Every Three or Five Years.

Armaments to Be Apportioned to Total Outlay.

Presidents of the Various Delegations Hold a Meeting—Suggestion by Sir Julian Pauncefote is "Turned Down."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Westminster Gazette gives a forecast of the Czar's peace programme, which formulates an idea, practically, of a federation of the world, with the disarmament conference as the starting point. The conference is to become a permanent tribunal, meeting every three or five years. It is proposed to establish a small body to settle the questions of fact, reference of which to the tribunal will not be obligatory.

The decisions of the minor body will not necessarily be accepted, but it is expected that its convenience will make the practice universal of submitting questions of honor to the mediation suggested. In regard to armaments, it is proposed to arrest their increase and to proportion military and naval estimates to the total expenditure.

Prof. von Stengel of the Munich University, one of Germany's delegates to the Peace Conference, the Gazette says, is no longer hostile to the objects of the conference. He now regrets having issued his pamphlets defending war and declaring that eternal peace ought not to be the aim of culture.

MEETING OF CHIEFS.

Suggestion by Pauncefote and White is "Turned Down."

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Sun's cable from The Hague says the possibility of some significance, Sir Julian Pauncefote, president of the British delegation, proposed that the subject of humane regulations in extension of the Geneva convention should be assigned to two committees, one to consider naval and the other military affairs. The meeting negatived the suggestion, and decided to refer the whole subject to a single committee. Andrew D. White of the American delegation supported Sir Julian, and the defeat of the proposition indicated a line of cleavage which will probably reappear when other questions arise.

The reasons for Sir Julian's motion was the belief which many hold that the chief practical results to be hoped for from the work of the conference are in the direction of minimizing the horrors of war by eliminating unnecessary cruelties. The American and English delegates desire, therefore, to devote their best energies and closest attention to any and all practical suggestions of this nature.

The American delegates are receiving many telegrams from all parts of the United States, indicating a degree of interest in their mission which greatly surprises them. A committee of Armenians visited the American delegation and made a plea for peace in behalf of their countrymen. Most of the members of the conference have made it a rule not to reply to representations in behalf of special causes or organizations.

From another delegation the appeal of the Armenians elicited this significant reply: "If a gentleman invites you to his house to listen to music, it is improper to accept and then play cards instead."

The most interesting news of the conference so far has come out in conversations between delegates. Thus a diplomatist of the highest rank today quoted the Kaiser as saying to him last week that "He would be damned if he would support arbitration, as it was contrary to his divine prerogatives."

Similarly frank and significant language, which an Englishman informed an American delegate, the Czar used to him in a recent interview, has made a profound impression here. The Czar said, according to his interlocutor: "I am sick and tired of life. What, with its responsibilities, its hypocrisies, its festivals and its lies, I wish I were out of it."

Several leaders of delegations expressed at today's meeting the opinion that the discussion of armaments should be postponed until the matter of arbitration shall be disposed of. There is little doubt that this method of shelving the disarmament question will be adopted.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

THE HAGUE, May 19.—The meeting of heads of delegations to the Peace Conference, at which Andrew D. White, head of the United States delegation, and Sir Julian Pauncefote, head of the British delegation, were present, resulted in an agreement to announce three committees to deal with the respective groups of questions proposed for discussion, namely, disarmament, laws of warfare, and mediation and arbitration. With a view of facilitating the appointment of the committees, it was agreed that each chief delegate should nominate one of his own delegation, whom it might be desired to appoint to the respective committees, so that each nation should be represented upon all the subjects.

The opinion of a majority of the delegates seems to be that the general scheme to be presented to the conference tomorrow has been conceived in a broad and liberal spirit, and the result of this morning's meeting of the delegation chiefs is regarded as demonstrating the good will and conciliatory spirit of all the delegates, and a common desire to facilitate the labors of the conference. Perfect harmony has prevailed thus far regarding all questions brought forward.

At tomorrow's session, M. de Stiel will read the replies of Emperor Nicholas and Queen Wilhelmina to the dispatches sent to their Majesties at the opening of the conference, after which he will deliver an important speech upon the work of the conference and will propose the adoption of the general scheme arranged this morning.

The various delegations met this afternoon to assign the members to the grand divisional committees. Tomorrow's session and all subsequent sessions will be secret.

TRANSPORTATION TO SIBERIA.

Car Orders Some Other Penalty to Be Considered.
[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
ST. PETERSBURG, May 19.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The czar presided yesterday at a meeting of the council called to discuss the question of abolishing transportation to Siberia, on the ground that it had become prejudicial to the interests of the country, and was a serious obstacle to the progress of Siberia.

As an outcome of the deliberations, the czar ordered a commission, to be presided over by the minister of justice, Privy Councillor N. V. Muraviev, to meet for the purpose of considering the question of substituting another penalty for transportation to the Siberian mines.

QUEEN WILHELMINA.

Will Give a Grand Soiree in Honor of the Delegates.

[THE HAGUE, May 19.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Queen Wilhelmina and the Queen's mother will arrive here Tuesday and will be received in great state. Her Majesty will give a grand soiree Wednesday in honor of the delegates to the peace conference.

The chiefs of the different delegations to the peace conference met today under the presidency of M. de Stiel, the Russian Ambassador to Great Britain, for the purpose of discussing the business to be transacted tomorrow.

FREDERICK'S TACT PRAISED.

[BERLIN, May 19.—The Cologne Gazette in publishing a sketch of the American delegates to the peace conference at The Hague, praises the tact of President McKinley in not appointing political figures to represent the Americans. "They are well known and universally respected men of great capacity in their professions; honorable men and of blameless reputation."

"FIRST-CLASS BURIAL."

[LONDON, May 20.—The correspondent of the Morning Post at The Hague telegraphs as follows: "An eminent member of the Peace Conference says it is simply an act of politeness to the czar, and will not be practical result, simply because it cannot. The powers, he asserted, are too dissatisfied and watch each other too closely to arrive at any understanding in their present mood. His prediction is that there will be a long discussion and then a first-class burial of the czar's proposals."

PROF. VIRCHOW'S VIEWS.

[BERLIN, May 19.—The independence of the German press is being tested by Prof. Rudolph Virchow, the leader of German Liberalism, on the subject of the Peace Conference, in the course of which he is represented as having said: "Disarmament is a question which will be realized by all nations under the law of development. The programme of Emperor Nicholas is comprehensive in its scope, but the fact that the powers accepted his plan is significant enough. One factor in the opinion, Nationalism, will deepen the study of the peace proposals, and the new century will be an age of enlightenment, civilization and peace."

DIRECTORS NOT LIABLE.

Bank President's Speculative Losses No Fault of Theirs.
[CHICAGO, May 19.—A decision involving an important point in connection with the Board of Trade was handed down in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals today by Judges Woods, Jenkins and Dunn. In sustaining judgments formerly given against the plaintiffs in error in the lower court, the judges held that the directors of a bank are not liable for the mismanagement of funds by the president, who takes advantage of his position to speculate.

The court denied the appeals of three Chicago brokers against whom judgments had been entered in favor of Robert R. Beard, receiver of the First National Bank of Peoria, Iowa, for money lost in their firms by the president of the bank, who had been appointed directors and not they should be made good the losses. The president of the bank at Peoria was E. R. Cassatt, who is now serving a sentence for defaulting in the sum of $65,000.

CHEWING GUM COMBINE.

To Be Incorporated in Trenton, N. J., With Capital of $500,000.
[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 19.—The Tribune says the chewing gum combine, which is to be known as the American Chicle Company, will be incorporated at Trenton with a capital of $500,000, of which $300,000 will be 6 per cent. cumulative stock preferred, and the rest common stock.

The company will acquire the following concerns: The Beeman Chemical Company, W. L. White & Son, Chicago; the Thomas Gum Company, Louisville; J. P. Riley, Chicago; S. T. Clark & Co., Toronto; and M. Adams & Son, Brooklyn. Charles R. Flint is identified with the new company, he being the largest importer of chicle, which is found only in Mexico, and is the principal ingredient used in making gum. Levy Mayer of Chicago will be the general counsel of the new company.

Mazet Investigating Committee Continues Its Hearings—The Death of Capt. O'Keefe.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]
NEW YORK, May 19.—The feature of today's session of the Mazet investigation committee was the unearthing of an alleged system of corruption in the disposition of the dead bodies from a city hospital, a ghoulous tale that was well corroborated and replete with detail.

By several witnesses it was stated that an undertaker named Marren illegally secured the funerals of all bodies taken to Harlem Hospital, and that he was enabled to do this by bribing the clerks in the employ of the city to break the rules. It was also shown that apparently an acquaintance existed between Marren and Croker and Carroll.

A large number of witnesses were called, and a multiplicity of subjects were touched upon during the examination. The old question of sewer pipe and the connection between the contractors' supplies and the city departments was gone into, but the only apparent important point elicited was that Richard Croker had objected to his son going into a concern where he intended it intended to supply city departments.

"KING" MAHONEY.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
NEW YORK, May 19.—James A. Mahoney, the bookmaker, was the first witness before the Mazet investigating committee. He declined to say whether a full-page story in the New York Herald, describing him as the "poolroom king" and describing his alleged poolrooms, was true or not. The article in question stated that a reporter went to Mahoney and said he intended to write a paper on him, and that Mahoney said: "Go ahead, and when you are ready to open, come over and see me."

Mahoney refused to answer any questions in regard to this. When asked if he intended to sue the Herald for libel, he replied: "What use a paper that made me a 'king' and the spectators were convulsed with laughter."

In declining to answer, Mahoney made several humorous remarks, and he was excused, having added nothing of importance to the record.

Wyndon Lynn, formerly employed by J. P. Marren, an undertaker to whom unclaimed bodies at the Harlem morgue are delivered, testified that, on Marren's behalf, he had on two or three occasions paid two clerks at the morgue $2 for bodies that were not properly delivered to Marren. Lynn also testified that Marren bought from the morgue for 50 cents to $1 each coffin made for the city at a greater cost.

Lynn admitted that he had come to the committee direct from the Tombs, where he was confined on complaint against Marren. Lynn said that he had pleaded guilty to the charge. The sum involved was $21, and he had himself discovered the shortage to which he had been made a false entry in Marren's books. A friend had written to him that the prosecution would be dropped if he would pay the money. After leaving Marren's employ, the witness had gone into the undertaking business on his own account.

CAPT. O'KEEFE'S DEATH.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
NEW YORK, May 19.—Chief of Police Devery was asked today regarding the statement by Moss at the Mazet committee hearing, that there was a rumor that Police Captain O'Keefe had been murdered instead of having died from an accident. Chief Devery said: "An investigation of the case was made at the time, and it is absurd to say that there was any wrong. It was an ordinary case of a charge now that there was any suspicion about Capt. O'Keefe's death."

WON'T BE CANADIANS.

People of Shagany Insist Upon Their American Rights.

[WASHINGTON, May 19.—Each of the members of the American branch of the Joint High Canadian Commission has received a handsomely-prepared invitation from the Chamber of Commerce of Shagany, through its president, to visit that port and see for themselves the conditions.

The invitation recited in strong language the desire of the people of Shagany to have the committee maintain to the utmost the claims of the United States to every foot of territory within the three-mile boundary line between the sea and the land, as it has heretofore been recognized.

The invitation has made an impression upon some of the members of the commission, because of the earnest expression of the determination to maintain American rights to the utmost. For one thing, it is taken as completely negating the statement published some time ago to the effect that a majority of the people of Shagany are desirous of annexation to Canada.

There is every indication of an absolute and final determination of the American commissioners to uphold this view of the proper boundary line set by the people of Shagany. If the boundary question is to be retained as one of the subjects for the action of the joint commission.

It has come to pass in the negotiations now going on in London between Lord Salisbury and Sir Julian Pauncefote on the one side and Ambassador Choate on the other that the resolution of the joint commission depends entirely upon the disposition made of the Alaska boundary question.

When the commission adjourned last winter, it was because the two branches were unable to agree upon the boundary question, and the dispute was dropped for a further hearing as a subject for consideration by the commission, leaving it to be adjusted by ordinary diplomatic methods or by arbitration.

The Canadians refused to consent to the separation of this question from the others. Therefore the adjournment followed, and it is necessary for the United States and Great Britain

Simonds of the United States Engineer Corps.

UNIFORM INSOLVENCY.

The Passage of Such an Act in Canada Has Again Failed.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]
NEW YORK, May 19.—A special to the Tribune from Montreal says the efforts of the boards of trade and commercial bodies in Canada to secure the passage of a uniform insolvency act for Canada have again failed. Word came from Ottawa that the bill introduced by Mr. Fortin, representing the wishes of the boards of trade, will not be successful, as the government refuses to give it support. The last night session of the parliament dealt with the bill, and no measure to take its place has ever proved acceptable to parliament.

The absence of such a law is said to be a depressing effect on the growth of trade with the United States. Great Britain, the British merchants declining to give credit in the absence of a general law for the distribution of assets.

JOINT CONFERENCE.

Striking Freight Handlers Hold a Mass Meeting, Too.

[BUFFALO, N. Y., May 19.—The striking freight handlers and representatives of the Lake and Erie Railroad met in a joint conference early today, and subsequently conferred separately. They are again in joint conference. The lake line men are said to have given their ultimatum not to advance wages.

Bishop Quigley has given permission for a mass meeting of strikers to be held in St. Bridget's hall this afternoon. The opposing attorneys are in conference, drawing up an agreement for the settlement of the strike.

WON'T INCREASE WAGES.

[BUFFALO, May 19.—The contractors, at the conference this afternoon, refused to accede to the demand for an increase in wages. Bishop Quigley advised the men to return to work at the old rates. The committee will report to the board of directors tomorrow.

The State Board of Arbitration and Mediation has adjourned until today, in expectation that a settlement of the strike will be arranged in the mean time. Local No. 51, of the Longshoremen's Association, has succeeded in books and charter to the new local, which is a step toward reconciliation.

[CHICAGO, May 19.—The Chicago Board of Trade directors today passed the following resolutions and telegraphed them to the parties interested at Buffalo:

"Resolved that the sense of the board of directors of the Board of Trade of Chicago that the contract of Mr. Connors with the Lake Carriers' Association should be immediately rescinded, and that normal conditions affecting transportation on the Great Lakes and the unloading of cargoes at Buffalo should be instantly restored."

KRUGER'S LENIENCY.

Won't Hold the Alleged Plot Up Against the Britishers.

[LONDON, May 19.—[By Atlantic Cable.] In the House of Commons today the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, gave the names and the identity of the men arrested at Johannesburg. All of them, excepting Tremlitt and Fairies, were former non-commissioned officers in the British army.

He added that President Kruger had affirmed the British agent at Pretoria that there was no proof that the prisoners were British officers, and that in any case, the incident would not be allowed to disturb the friendly relations existing. [Cheers.]

BROOKE NOT DEFIANT

THE GENERAL ONLY ASKED FOR FURTHER INSTRUCTIONS.

Neither the President nor Secretary Aligned Himself Commanded Any Order Relative to Cuban Disarmament.

Island Leaders Ask That the Arms Be Turned Over to the Mayors Solely as a Matter of Native Sentiment.

Offers to Pay May Be Made Directly to Native Soldiers—Admiral Schley at Omaha.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, May 19.—It is the sheerest nonsense, said Secretary Alger today, in commenting upon the published story that either the President or himself had countermanded any order made by Gen. Brooke relative to the disarmament of the Cuban troops.

The state of the case, in brief, is as follows: The President refused to authorize the best method of securing the disarmament of the Cuban troops and their reentry into industrial life. It was decided that one step toward this end was the surrender of the arms held by the Cuban soldiers. It was approached by retaining their arms some, if not a large portion, inclined by their past predatory existence, would lapse into brigandage. So the President, himself, ordered Gen. Brooke to cause the arms of the Cuban soldiers to be delivered up to representatives of the United States army.

With these instructions, Gen. Brooke has been apparently carrying out the President's plan. He has arrived at that point where the Cuban leaders, the mayors of the Cuban towns, are making it a condition of disarmament that the arms shall be placed in the custody of the mayors of the Cuban towns.

It is said that the War Department has refused to accept the Cuban offer, and that the United States army officers are unwilling to accept the Cuban offer, and that the United States army officers are unwilling to accept the Cuban offer, and that the United States army officers are unwilling to accept the Cuban offer.

CONTOVERSY ASSERTED.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.

NEW YORK, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A special dispatch to the Evening Post from its Washington correspondent says:

"There is no doubt that a controversy of moment is pending in connection with the disarmament of the Cuban insurgent army. The President's instructions to Gen. Brooke were so explicit that it did not seem as if any variance from them would be attempted. The news that Gen. Brooke proposed to have the arms turned over to the Cuban local authorities, therefore, came like a thunderbolt out of a clear sky."

"Although Gen. Corbin has gone to consult with the President, and whether Gen. Brooke shall not be ordered to reverse his programme and carry out his instructions, it is believed here that he is personally in sympathy with Gen. Brooke's idea of putting the whole business, as far as possible, into Cuban hands."

"Secretary Alger, on the contrary, regards such a course as dangerous in the extreme, and he is reported to have moved out of the island. As long as we retain possession, even though with the understanding that the Cubans realize that we are actually, as well as nominally, in charge, and feel that needless concessions will be liable to misinterpretation as lack of firmness."

HAVANA FERMENDING.

[HAVANA, May 19.—Havana is in a ferment again over the idea that the Washington administration has determined to 'take the arms of the Cuban troops and retain them in military possession. This view of the latest news from Washington has been telegraphed to the various cities.

Unless instructions to the contrary are received from the War Department, the governor-general's orders respecting the distribution of the $3,000,000, as modified, will be issued. The Secretary of War has been informed as to the substance of this order in the usual course of business."

WORKED FOR AMERICANS.

And It Didn't Cost the British Anything Extra.

[LONDON, May 19.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Replying in the House of Commons to Zachary Malcolm, Conservative member for the Stowmarket division of Suffolk, who asked how the British consular work was being continued by acting for the United States, and how they were remunerated, the Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, William St. John Broderick, said the government was aware that considerable extra work has been thrown upon the consuls, but he added no additional expenses had been incurred.

Continuing, he said, the government took the protection of American interests in Spain at the beginning of the war, and will continue to protect them so long as it is considered convenient by the United States government. He explained that it was the usual practice for a belligerent government to place its interests in the hands of a friendly power, and in such cases there was no question of remuneration. Later the House of Commons adjourned until May 31.

Corbin was with the President only for a few minutes.

MARION C. STONE DEAD.

Inventor and Philanthropist and Civil War Veteran.

[A. P. EARLY MORNING REPORT.]
WASHINGTON, May 19.—Marion Chester Stone is dead at his home in this city, aged 57 years. He was born in Ohio; served with credit in the civil war; studied theology and became a Baptist minister. He was a prominent citizen of this city. He invented a machine for making paper cigarette-holders and made a contract with the Duke Company, after which he started a factory. Then he invented a machine for making the paper straws or tubes that have displaced the straws used for cold drinks. The orders from Europe, as well as the orders from this country, were great. The machine was obliged to double the capacity of his works.

His next invention was a method for coloring fine china and glassware in imitation of the celebrated "peach-blow vase" of the Walter collection. His factory was a model, and he was spoken of as "the friend of the working class," in that he looked after the moral and social condition of his working class and furnished a large library of standard fiction and other works, music, meeting-room for debates, and a dancing floor in the building. Mr. Stone was also well known for his philanthropy in other directions.

Recently the Chicago, Burlington and Northern was taken in this way, and the next line looked for a sale is the Hannibal and St. Joseph.

HOSTILE MOBS.

Several Officers Hurt Protecting Max Regis After His Acquittal.

[PARIS, May 19.—[By Atlantic Cable.] After the acquittal of the notorious Jew brawler, Max Regis, on the charge of inciting to murder and incendiarism at Grenoble, last evening, a hostile crowd followed him to the railroad station, compelling the authorities to protect him with soldiers. A mob marched to the Officers' Club, cheering for Dreyfus and Picquart, and hooting the officers, who turned a water-pipe into a shower of stones. Several officers were injured by the mob. The rioters were finally dispersed, after a number of policemen had been hurt.

On the news of the acquittal of Max Regis reaching Algiers, of which city he was a former Mayor, a mob formed and marched on the Jewish quarter, and the police and military had to be summoned. In order to prevent the rioters from burning Jewish houses, fifty arrests were made before the mob was dispersed.

Big Battle Will Not Be Arranged to Suit the Kinetoscope and Brady Will Have His Extra Bout.

Giants Forfeit a Game to St. Louis—Rebel Jack—Savage. Day's Summary.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The danger of postponing the big battle between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Jeffries to suit weather conditions has been averted. Today a contract was clinched between the management and the Kinetoscope company that proposes to take pictures of the fight with the aid of artificial light. Brady says he will not abandon the idea of holding a special bout on the night of the big battle. In view of the fact that Tommy Ryan thinks he will be unable to meet "Kid" McCoy on that date, Brady may arrange a fight between "Spikle" Sullivan and Lavigne. Both are eager to come together.

The talk that Fitzsimmons will go into the ring a 1-to-4 shot is not taken seriously by the sports. Jeffries is gaining friends daily, and money is going down on him. The fact that good judges are backing the young Californian has brought many skeptics over to Jeffries's side, and they are willing to hazard tidy sums on his chances. The odds today were quoted at 100 to 70 in favor of Fitzsimmons. Jim Corbett acted as stakeholder in a bet of $750 to $1000 on Jeffries, made by Frank Dwyer.

Dave O'Connor, the bookmaker, is backing Fitzsimmons, and has placed $500 to $350 on Fitzsimmons. He has $300 more which he would like to invest. Frank Burgess has received a commission of $600 to put on the champion.

George Considine said today that if he finds any takers at 2 to 1 he will increase his offer of $1000 to $2000 and back Jeffries.

WALCOTT'S WONDERFUL WORK.

Wallops Dick O'Brien After Conceding Much Weight to Him.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 19.—Joe Walcott, the colored boxer, who has deserted the ranks of the light-weights to become a middle-weight, knocked out Dick O'Brien in the fourteenth round of their fight at the Broadway Athletic Club tonight. Walcott made a heavy concession of weight to the Lewiston man, yet he won the fight.

Walcott took a lead at the sound of the gong, and, save for a few seconds in the thirteenth round, was never headed. He showed superiority in every respect, and it was only O'Brien's wonderful stamina and capacity to take punishment that saved him from an earlier defeat. Half a dozen times during the fight, and before the final round, he seemed to be going, but every time his strength came back and the rests saved him.

It was a fierce fight from the start, yet it was so uneven that it failed to stir the crowd to any high pitch of enthusiasm. Walcott showed improved form as the increased weight, and was wonderfully clever. He frequently dashed his left into O'Brien's ribs, raised it to the neck and then planted the right on the other side of the head and got away without a return. His left was wonderfully useful, and whenever a blow seemed effective, he was all over his man with both hands. He gave O'Brien no rest, and after the size-up it was only a question of time.

The thirteenth round was the only one that looked like O'Brien's. Walcott opened with a series of jabs, but toward the close O'Brien planted his right on the jaw and his left on the nose, and the colored man, mar about the ring, and had him bleeding and tired at the finish.

The end came in the fourteenth. Walcott rushed his man and sent him down with a hard right on the jaw. O'Brien took his time, and was groggy when he came up. Walcott was at him at once, and beat him down with a right and left. Then out shot a right hook, and it was all over.

Walcott was the favorite in the betting at odds of 2½ to 1.

One Thousand Auto-trucks to Be Put in Operation in New York, Chicago and in the Golden State Right at the Start.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, May 19.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Arrangements were completed today for organizing the several auto-truck companies in Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and California. Articles of incorporation will probably be filed within a week for one or two of them. The Chicago Auto-truck Company will have a capital of $15,000,000; the Boston company $10,000,000; the Philadelphia company $10,000,000, and the California company $5,000,000.

The International Power Company will own a controlling interest in the stock of all of these concerns, but the management will be lodged in the hands of local capitalists. The one to be organized in California will have the exclusive rights to operate auto-trucks in that State.

Joseph Leiter said yesterday that they were not yet ready to give out the names of the promoters in the several States. It is hoped to start the companies just as soon as the auto-trucks are ready. Tests are being made at Worcester, and efforts will be made to put one thousand in operation here, at Chicago and in California right at the start.

CAPITAL MERELY NOMINAL. [ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

TRENTON (N. J.), May 19.—Seven-teen electric-vehicle transportation companies were incorporated here today. These companies were formed by the Whitney-Elkins-Widener syndicate to operate auto-mobiles in as many different States.

Each of the companies has an authorized capital of $100,000, except the one formed for the District of Columbia, which has an authorized capital of $5,000,000. The capital, with this latter exception, is supposed to be merely a nominal amount, to be increased later.

La Bretagne Goes to Dry Dock—The Barbarossa Sails Monday.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

NEW YORK, May 19.—The cargo of the North German Lloyd steamer Barbarossa, which caught fire yesterday, was still being taken out of her today. The French liner La Bretagne, into which the Barbarossa ran her bows, was also being lightened. Both vessels were at their docks and in no danger. La Bretagne will go to the dry docks today. The North German officials announced definitely that the Barbarossa will sail at 8 a.m. Monday next.

STABBED BY A BEGGAR. NEW YORK, May 19.—John H. Englis, former president of the Wallabout Bank, Brooklyn, was stabbed in the neck today by Christopher Daly, a beggar. The wound is a severe one, dangerously close to the jugular vein. Daly had been to Englis's house, a few days ago, to ask for alms, and was dissatisfied with the food given. He lay in wait and abused Englis for this today, ending by stabbing him. The wounded man is 64 years of age. Daly was arrested.

Ex-Senator Buckalew's Suicide.
BLOOMSBURG (Pa.), May 19.—Ex-Senator Charles Buckalew committed suicide at his home here today. Mr. Buckalew was Minister to Ecuador under President Buchanan. In 1881 he was elected to the United States Senate by a majority of 1 vote, succeeding David Wilmot (Rep.). In 1882 he received the Democratic nomination for Governor, but was defeated. Afterward he was elected to Congress, serving in the Fiftieth and Fifty-first Congresses.

"I don't doubt it," replied the man with the cinnamon beard. "Was out there a couple of weeks I saw drifts that couldn't have less than nine hundred feet deep."

"If you hadn't been in such a hurry to tell a bigger lie than you thought I could tell," rejoined the man with the mackintosh, "I would have expected that the drifts I saw were six hundred feet up on the side of a mountain."

"That's all right," said the man with the cinnamon beard. "The drifts I saw were at least 500 feet deep."

She stood on the top of the street and signaled for the

The residents of the adjoining districts about Pomona will have to wait six or seven weeks longer for free mail delivery, but it will be worth waiting for, and they will appreciate it all the more when they get it.

Tulare, too, has been touched by the spirit of improvement, and, perhaps noticing the movement in Los Angeles looking to the construction of a hall suitable for conventions, is talking about building a pavilion and making Tulare a "convention town."

To their credit be it said that the City Trustees of San Pedro are among the first, if not the first, officials of the smaller towns of this section to move in the matter of abolishing the slot-machine gambling nuisance. Now let other towns where this devil's own device for robbing men of their morals and their money exists go and do likewise.

The Nogales (Ariz.) Oasis celebrates the sixth anniversary of its birth by the issue of a handsome illustrated edition, largely devoted to a description of the beauties and resources of Nogales and the new county of Santa Cruz, of which Nogales is the county seat. The Oasis is one of the best, as well as one of the handsomest, papers in Arizona. It has had some hard fights, but it has won success by deserving it.

At least two more Southern California newspapers have changed owners during the present week. The Anaheim Gazette announces that the entire ownership and control of that paper has passed into the hands of Henry Kuehl, Charles Kuehl, retiring, and the Corona Courier notes the fact that A. C. Miller has retired and H. C. Foster, who founded the Courier, has returned to his old place. The new proprietors of both papers promise improvements.

The Santa Barbara Chamber of Commerce has been incorporated and is therefore in better condition than ever before to exert an influence in the advancement of the city's interests. Santa Barbara is almost unrivaled in its location, its climate and other conditions which go to make an ideal town, for either residence or resort. It will soon be on a through line of railroad. It only remains to push local improvements and enterprises and keep the progress of the day to make it one of the most prosperous places on the Coast.

FATAL BICYCLE COLLISION.

One Man Killed Outright and the Other Seriously Injured.

Coroner Holland received word about 10 o'clock last night from Dr. Burleigh of Covina, stating that H. E. Atewall and John Adair had a bicycle collision between Azusa and Covina at 7:45 o'clock p.m. In which Atewall was killed outright. Adair was seriously injured, but it is thought that he will recover.

The body of Atewall was removed to Jenner's undertaking parlors at Azusa, where Coroner Holland and Deputy Strubel will hold an inquest today.

Leaves Two Vacancies.

Maj. W. S. Bangham left Los Angeles for Sacramento last evening to assume his duties as Assistant Adjutant-General of the National Guard. He will return to this city in three weeks, prior to taking up a permanent residence in the northern city. Through his departure two positions are made vacant, clerk of the Board of Supervisors, and major of a battalion of the Seventh Regiment.

Inasmuch as two companies of Maj. Bangham's battalion have been disbanded, it is probable that the remaining two companies will be turned over to another major. Clerk Bell will fill the other position until a successor is chosen.

SHOOTING OF KEMP.

Humphreys Held to Answer for Using a Deadly Weapon.

The preliminary examination of Charles H. Humphreys on the charge of assault with a deadly weapon, before Justice Austin, yesterday, resulted in his being held to answer to the Superior Court.

Humphreys, who is collector and assistant book-keeper for the Stimson Mill Company, shot Charles E. Kemp in the leg with a revolver, in the company's office on East Third street, on the afternoon of May 11. Kemp still has the bullet in his leg, but was able to appear in court as a witness yesterday.

The testimony tended to show that Kemp went to the Stimson Mill Company's office on the day in question, looking for trouble and found it. He was intoxicated and started in to abuse Humphreys for alleged neglect of the grave of his deceased wife, who was a sister of Kemp. He wanted to know why Humphreys had not erected a monument over her grave. Humphreys replied that he had gone to considerable expense in buying a cemetery lot and had the monument erected. Kemp threatened to thrash him if he did not erect a monument within a week, and continuing his tirade, he made a remark that reflected on the chastity of Humphreys' present wife. Then it was that Humphreys took a revolver from the cash drawer and shot Kemp.

According to the evidence presented Kemp had started to go around the end of the counter to get at Humphreys, but started to retreat when he saw the pistol in the latter's hand. Humphreys was greatly excited when he fired and did not take particular aim at any portion of his adversary's anatomy. The shot was a random one, and the bullet passed through a round of the counter railing and a corner of a desk before it found lodgment in the muscles of Kemp's left leg above the knee.

Although believing that Kemp was principally to blame for his injury, Justice Austin nevertheless felt it to be his duty to hold Humphreys to answer for the assault. He was accordingly bound over to the Superior Court in $300 bail.

A RIGHT JAB.

The Los Angeles Parkhurst Mixes Things With a Brother.

The Rev. Jab Wilson, who started a "purifying" crusade in Los Angeles and left that unweaned innocent, the Rev. McLean, to investigate the morals of the city, was yesterday in the city, and packed the load of ridicule that was heaped upon the crusaders who hired high kickers for their souls' sake, has got into characteristic trouble in San Francisco.

The Rev. Jab is a stalwart man of uncertain temper, and he has been known to yield to the unclerical impulse to resort to jabs and uppercuts instead of exhortation when excited. It is alleged that he recently smote the Rev. W. Myron Lowell and knocked him down in the church of the Methodist Book Concern in San Francisco. The Rev. Lowell published a volume of "credentials," the accuracy of which was questioned, and in discussion of the subject the Rev. Lowell called the Rev. Jab a "liar." Then the Rev. Lowell fell out of his chair, and among those present who would affirm that the Rev. Jab's fist had done something to do with the fall.

According to the San Francisco Examiner, the Rev. Walter Myron Lowell rose within the time limit and threatened to have the Rev. J. A. B. Wilson arrested. The latter was contrite. The bubbling of his wrath were spent. He was willing and even eager to apologize. There was at first an armistice, then a truce, and then a treaty of peace. The Rev. J. A. B. Wilson took the side of the recently-arrested Rev. Walter Myron Lowell, becoming his champion and his friend. "I did not strike him," said the Rev. Dr. Wilson. "I impulsively drew back my hand. This prompted Mr. Lowell to dodge. In so doing he lost his balance and fell to the floor. I have been a father to that boy—a friend when he had no friend. He has been under a great nervous strain and what he may have said to me was spoken in an unguarded moment. He made every amendment. My home is now his home. I have every confidence in him, and would recommend him and vouch for him."

Of Water Supply.

Owing to the fact that one of the bondsmen of Sawyer & Arthur, the firm which defaulted on its contract with the city for the construction of three bridges, is financially embarrassed, and that there is doubt as to the ability of the city to recover the full amount of the bond from the other surety, it is now considered certain that no proceedings will be taken in the courts against the firm or its bondsmen to enforce the contract. That just what has happened would have been predicted by certain members of the Council months ago, and now the city finds itself in a position where its only course is to readvertise for bids on the contracts and again let them be awarded to the same firm. The result of the failure of the firm to execute its contracts has cost the city the interest on the amount of the contracts, and has caused the people the inconvenience of waiting for the completion of the bridges for months longer than was thought probable at the time the contracts were let.

The Bridge Committee of the Council will take up the matter this morning, and will almost certainly recommend that he City Clerk be authorized to again advertise for bids. Ever since it has been known that the first contracts would not be executed, there has been frequent discussion among the members of the Council whether it would be better to take the course contemplated now by the committee, or to sue on the bonds which accompany the contracts. The decision of a majority of the members was that the latter course would be futile, and would only leave the city with a bill of costs to pay, and would not secure the construction of the bridges. It is believed that when the bids are again called for there will be a larger number of bidders than before, and while the price of the bridges may be higher, there will be a certainty that they will be constructed.

With reference to the Los Feliz-road bridge there is a slight disagreement between the city and the Southern Pacific Railroad Company as to a grade crossing near the end of the bridge. To settle this, it may be necessary to change the location of the end of the proposed structure, or to construct a trestle over the railroad tracks to make the roadway above the railroad grade. City Engineer Olmsted is satisfied that he will be able to settle this

At the regular meeting of the Council Monday a petition was presented asking that the city donate to a company, which has recently been formed for the purpose of erecting a glass factory, land on which to erect their plant. The fact that such a company has been formed and that it is about ready to begin the operation of a plant, has not been made public, or at least the plans of the company and the extent of its proposed operations have not been announced. The petition, however, will recite just what is intended, and all that will be asked of the city is to encourage the enterprise by a gift of land as a factory site.

City Clerk Hance was seen in his office yesterday afternoon by a representative of the company, and asked as to the proper course of bringing the matter before the Council. He explained that all that is necessary is for the company to send in a petition stating just what is wanted. The matter would be referred to the proper committee, and in due time the Council would act upon it. The city has much vacant land available for such a purpose, but just what the Council will do with the petition is not known. Some doubt has been expressed as to the right of the city to actually give away land, but if the Council is disposed to favor the plan, the land can be sold for a merely nominal consideration, which would be equivalent to giving it away. Capt. Hance's caller informed him that experiments have been made here with the land, and that can be secured near the city, and the company is ready to make a large investment if it is given what it considers the proper encouragement.

New Dog License Ordinance Certain to Pass.

There is now no doubt that the dog license ordinance presented at the last meeting of the City Council will be adopted by that body at its next meeting. At the time of its presentation there was some opposition to it, by several of the members, but they have carefully studied the measure and have found that it does not contain the objectionable features that they thought it did, and they have withdrawn their opposition. The new ordinance raises the license on dogs from $1 to $2, and reduces the cost of disposing of those of them that are caught from $1 to 50 cents. Another important provision is that requiring that all

Will Visit the Headquarters.

The members of the Water Supply Committee of the City Council, several other members of the Council, City Engineer Olmsted, City Attorney Haas and Mayor Eaton will make a complete inspection of the source of the city's water supply next Tuesday. The party will leave the City Hall early in the day, drive up the river to the site of the proposed headworks, and will view the water development along the line of the river above the city. The purpose of the trip is to familiarize the Councilmen with the conditions existing there, in order that they may be able to intelligently consider various proposals which will be made in the discussion of the water question. Most of the members know only in a general way that the city's water comes from that direction, and have no idea of how it is directed into the pipes and flumes through which it is carried into the reservoirs. After the tour of inspection, another consultation will be held, at which some definite plan of action will be decided upon.

Double Assessment.

In a long communication to the City Council, filed in the City Clerk's office yesterday, A. H. Suskind and E. Lasar point out an instance where their property was doubly assessed, owing to a merely nominal assessment in 1900. They petition for a correction of the error in order that they will not have to pay taxes on the same property twice.

Talk of Convention Hall.

Members of the committee appointed to adopt ways and means for the erection of a convention hall in Los Angeles held a meeting in the rooms of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association yesterday afternoon. Several suggestions were offered, but the committee decided to postpone action until Kansas City and several other places could be communicated with relative to methods adopted for the erection of the convention hall at those places. When this information has been received the committee will suggest another meeting, but the report will be made to the special committee of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, the chairman of which appointed the Committee on Ways and Means.

How the Forestry Question Comes Home to All.

An interesting lecture on the forestry question was given by the School of Forestry at the University of California yesterday morning by Abbot Kinney. The lecture was largely of local application, showing the interest which Los Angeles city has in forestry, and several extracts from his speech are printed below:

"The steeper and more extensive the bare mountains are, the more dangerous and destructive will be the torrents arising from them."

"The Santa Monica range has long been exploited by woodchoppers and sheep men, and the usual methods of cutting the trees, which is rapidly diminishing, have been employed. Fires are set to burn off the brush and subsequent rains carry away the soil, leaving nothing but a bare, rocky surface. Springs never known to be dry by the oldest American and Spanish settlers, are now entirely gone. The supply of drinking water has, for the first time, become a vital question."

"Along the Sierra Madre the fire scars are becoming more numerous. They are growing larger and larger. What the next heavy rainfall will do in torrential action, is a serious question. Southern California everywhere shows how near it is to the line of destructive torrential action. Every mountain cañon has its torrent cone, with the beds of boulders, gravel and sand extending toward the valleys. There is no true perennial stream from mountain to sea in this section."

"It is not necessary to leave Los Angeles city to note this character of action. The Los Angeles River now flows between dykes. A great deal of the elegant southwestern section of the city is lower than the level of the river bed. A torrential stream like the combination of Tejuca and San Fernando torrents that broke out through Los Angeles is a dangerous thing."

"In 1859 the river broke out to the east, destroying a great deal of property. If it should break out to the west, people in Los Angeles would commence to take an active interest in forestry. The truth of the matter is that no section of Southern California stands in greater danger from forest destruction than the city of Los Angeles. First, in the loss of its permanent water supply, by the sudden flood delivery of the rainfall from the burned and bare mountains; second, because there is a torrent bed running right through the city, which has already, by the deposit of detritus, elevated itself above the general level."

"It behooves us to look to our forests. The desert is at our door today. It is pushing us against the mountain barrier that divides us. The deserts even now come into our lovely valleys for a few days with their fire and furnace breath to look at the rich booty they may some day hold. It is the forest that man has the right to look at. The crime dominates and destroys our forests. Rather should we endeavor by reforestation and by protective laws to preserve these mines of wealth which mean so much to the future of Southern California."

LAKES OF KILLARNEY.

The Owner Offers to Part With Them for Thirty Thousand Pounds.

[Chicago Record.] There has just arisen the possibility that the Lakes of Killarney, the most beautiful spot may be altogether closed to the public. It is hard to realize that so famous a place is simply a portion of the demesne of a private gentleman who has the right, whenever he chooses, to exercise it, to keep it as rigidly for himself as his own drawing-room.

Herbert M. Muckross, who owns Killarney, has satisfied his proprietorial rights by charging a small toll at various places on the lakes. This has not only provided him with a contribution toward the maintenance of the place, but has effectively prevented the acquisition of the public of any rights-of-way. The Herberts of Muckross, an old and distinguished family connected by marriage with the best English nobility, are far from being as rich as they used to be, and the estates in Kerry have been sold to the tenants under the provisions of the Land Act.

Now the house and demesne, including the lakes, are offered for sale. Thirty thousand pounds has been named as a possible price. Any one who chooses to pay it can, if he pleases, keep Killarney to himself. Under the circumstances the suggestion is made that the government, following the American example, might acquire the place as a national park. It is pointed out that while America has bought up and dedicated to the public the lakes of square miles, while in Switzerland the mountains and valleys are free to all comers, while in London Epping Forest has been preserved for the people, the public is completely shut out from a great part of the outlook on Dublin Bay, and the Giant's Causeway is now shut in by a wall and a toll.

WHEN DEWEY WAS ILL.

He Was Given Up to Die When in Command of the Junta.

[Birmingham Age-Herald.] "I was in intimate relations with Admiral Dewey for eight or ten months, and never heard him mention politics. Therefore I have no sort of knowledge as to the Admiral's political views or inclinations. Broadly speaking, politics is never discussed by the officers on board American warships. The navy has no politics. Its business and sole purpose is to do the work assigned to it as an arm of the national defense."

So spoke Thomas W. Worthington of Birmingham, to an Age-Herald reporter. Mr. Worthington was graduated from Annapolis in 1882, and was assigned to the Junta, a battleship, by Dewey, who at that time held the rank of commander in the navy. Mr. Worthington was at that time an ensign and was a first officer on Dewey. He resigned from the navy to engage in private business, but retains some extremely interesting impressions of the now famous admiral. He is very reluctant to speak of these matters, but his friends managed in some way to draw him out privately yesterday.

"Admiral Dewey was given up to die while in command of the Junta early in 1883," said Mr. Worthington. "The ship sailed for the Far East on a long cruise. Commander Dewey's health was bad and got very much worse after we sailed from the United States. We got into Fajal in the Azores, and lay there for half a month. The commander was extremely ill, and the ship's surgeon couldn't tell what was the matter with him. The commander himself couldn't tell. Nobody knew. Doctors invited on board were no wiser than the rest of us. Finally Dewey gave orders for the ship to sail for Gibraltar. Arrived there, our surgeon went ashore and got two army surgeons of the British garrison to come off to the ship and consult with him regarding the commander's condition. They failed to discover the cause of the patient's suffering. We remained at Gibraltar for a time and proceeded from there to Malta. At Malta it was decided to take Commander Dewey to the hospital. It was there discovered by one of the doctors that the commander was suffering from abscess of the liver."

A surgical operation was decided upon, but the chances were greatly against his recovery. Dewey made his will and prepared for death. He dictated to me letters to members of his family, and they were mailed. I also, under his instructions, drew up a detailed statement as to his private affairs, so that they might be no necessary trouble after his death. The surgeons performed the operation, and, of course, the use of the knife made the patient weaker than ever. Those who assisted in the painful work became convinced afterward that Dewey could not long survive, and they told him so. He received the statement calmly, and completed his arrangements for passing on. We stayed there a month, during which time he showed no signs of recovery, and so finally we had to leave him, expecting never to see him again. We sailed for the East and spent a year or two in Chinese waters. The next time I heard of my old commander he was in charge of another ship."

"Tell us about Admiral Dewey in his personal relations," Mr. Worthington's friends urged upon him.

"He is the most sociable and companionable of men," was the answer. "He is what we may call an all-round good fellow."

"A Message to Garcia."

[Chicago Journal.] The passenger department of the New York Central Railway is doing a service to society by the printing and distributing of Elbert Hubbard's little brochure entitled "A Message to Garcia." In its present form it might be called "The Message to Garcia," for it is the first time it has appeared in the Philippine Magazine, of which he is the editor.

Taking for a moment the exploit of Col. (then Lieutenant) Rowan in delivering a message from the President to Garcia early in the Spanish war, without stopping to ask where Garcia was, who he was, why the President wanted the message delivered, what was in it, or anything else of the sort, Mr. Rowan is the man who can do and on the absolute worthlessness of the man who can't, a sermon.

What is the message? It is ordered to do, ought to be in the hands of every man and boy in this country. For if there is one thing that seems more to be needed than another by American young men today, and by a large percentage of older men as well, it is the capacity to do, and do things which they are ordered to do, and do them as best they know how.

The field of industry is choked with incompetents; not merely helpless incompetents, but incompetents who are not only incompetent, but who are also, by their very nature, incapable of doing anything else, but what they are ordered to do. They are the men who can do and on the absolute worthlessness of the man who can't, a sermon.

What is the message? It is ordered to do, ought to be in the hands of every man and boy in this country. For if there is one thing that seems more to be needed than another by American young men today, and by a large percentage of older men as well, it is the capacity to do, and do things which they are ordered to do, and do them as best they know how.

THE SECRET OF A GOOD DISPOSITION.

Mrs. Pinkham Says a Careful Regard for Bodily Health Makes Women Sweet and Attractive to All.

The world is filled with sweet women who are held back from usefulness by some trouble of the female organs. Pretentiousness and nervousness rapidly destroy sweet dispositions. Sickly all-worn-out women cannot live happy lives. Nearly every woman may be well and happy if she will follow Mrs. Pinkham's advice. See what Mrs. Craig says:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and think it is the best medicine for women in the world. I was so weak and nervous that I thought I could not live from one day to the next. I had prolapsus uteri and leucorrhoea, and thought that I would die. I had dragging pains in my back, burning sensation down to my feet, and so many miserable feelings. People said that I looked like a dead woman. Doctors tried to cure me, but failed. I had given up when I heard of the Pinkham medicine. I got a bottle. I did not have much faith in it, but I thought I would try it, and it made a new woman of me. I wish I could get every lady in the land to try it, for it did for me what doctors could not do."

—MRS. SALLIE CRAIG, Baker's Landing, Pa.

That Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a safeguard of woman's health is clearly proven by the thousands of letters constantly being received. Here is one from Mrs. W. P. VALENTINE, 566 Ferry Ave., Camden, N. J.:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Before writing to you I felt very bad, had terrible sick headaches, no appetite, gnawing pain in stomach, pain in my back and right side; was tired and nervous, and so weak I could scarcely stand. I was not able to do anything, had sharp pains all through my body. Before I had taken half a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I found myself improving. I continued its use until I had taken four bottles, and felt so well that I did not need to take any more. I am like a new person."

Ask Mrs. Pinkham's Advice—A Woman Best Understands a Woman's Ills

that, for the whole audience, as with a single impulse, made a rush for the doors. "Fire!" shouted some as they ran. At which I sat quite still, which is the only thing to do under such circumstances. When it seemed entirely safe to leave me alone, I only ran hurried forward, to return a moment later on a run. "An attack at the outposts," he whispered, and despite the darkness and confusion, we beat a hasty retreat, and were soon bowling homeward in our quills."

It was an exciting ride, for at any moment we might be stopped by members of the deadly Catapannan band, hundreds of whom were hiding in the dark streets of the town, armed with their murderous bolos, and only waiting for their allies to break through the American lines and give the signal for their butchery to begin. But the signal was never given, for at dawn the insurgents were hastily retreating—that is those who were able to retreat. The others lay in their blood-stained trenches waiting to be buried. However, several officers hurrying to their commands that night were jumped upon by armed natives, though I believe in each case only the native suffered.

In less time almost than it takes to tell it we were at home, and the Only Man had changed from his immaculate white duck to a khaki uniform, buckled on his big Colt revolver, and cantered away, looking very brave and handsome with his campaign hat at a jaunty angle over his left ear. "Think of it," I said to myself, "I had feared that I would not be able to do it, but I have myself taken down the sharp Philippine knives and swords with which our walls were decorated."

Two Rich Men's Lunches

No man's life is fuller of strange contradictions than that of John D. Rockefeller, says the New York Herald. With the power to buy anything he wishes, he lives a life of Spartan simplicity. He arises at an hour when the servants of most rich men consider night, and attends to the many details of his business. He arose at 5 o'clock in the morning a few weeks ago, when the New Amsterdam Hotel was full of lawyers who were trying to find out some matters connected with the Standard Oil Company. He did two hours' work in his office, and then went through three hours of intellectual fencing with the commission from Ohio. There was a luncheon for lunch. Mr. Rockefeller remarked to one of his counsel, Virgil P. Kline of Cleveland, that he was very hungry. "The man who is a lawyer," said Mr. Rockefeller, "is a man who is a lawyer."

"Mr. Rockefeller," he said slowly, as he puffed a cigar, "is a remarkable man. He has done it. Think of a man driving to the Union Club to get a banana and a glass of milk."

Abram S. Hewitt is one of the oldest of the active business men in the city. He may be found in his office in Bur-lingham, almost any day during business hours, and he never wastes much time over his lunch. "I never eat anything but a bowl of oatmeal and milk," he said recently.

CANCER IS DEADLY!

Results Fatally in Nine Cases Out of Ten—A Cure Found at Last.

This fearful disease often first appears as a mere scratch, a pimple, or lump in the breast, too small to attract any notice, until, in many cases, the deadly disease is fully developed. Cancer can not be cured by a surgical operation, because the disease is a virulent poison in the blood, circulating throughout the system, and although the sore or ulcer—known as the Cancer—may be cut away, the poison remains in the blood, and promptly breaks out afresh, with renewed violence.

The wonderful success of S. S. S. in curing obstinate, deep-seated blood diseases which were considered incurable, induced a few despairing sufferers to try it for Cancer, after exhausting the skill of the physicians without a cure. Much to their delight S. S. S. proved equal to the disease and promptly effected a cure. The glad news spread rapidly, and it was soon demonstrated beyond doubt that a cure had at last been found for deadly Cancer. Evidence has accumulated which is incontrovertible, of which the following is a specimen:

"Cancer is hereditary in our family, my father, a sister and an aunt having died from this dreadful disease. My feelings may be imagined when the horrible disease made its appearance on my side. It was a malignant Cancer, eating inwardly in such a way as to cause great alarm. The disease seemed to be the skill of the doctors for their treatment did no good whatever, the Cancer growing worse all the while. Numerous remedies were used for it, but the Cancer grew steadily worse, until it seemed that I was doomed to follow the others of the family, for I know how deadly Cancer is, especially when inherited. I was advised to try Swift's Specific (S. S. S.), which, from the first day, forced out the poison. I continued its use until I had taken eighteen bottles, when I was cured sound and well, and have had no symptoms of the dreadful affliction, though many years have elapsed. S. S. S. is the only cure for Cancer."—MRS. S. M. IDOL, Winston, N. C.

Our book on Cancer, containing other testimonials and valuable information, will be sent free to any address by the Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Georgia.

They are All Soldiers.

After quoting a Kansas mother's letter to the Governor, urging that her son be sent home from the Philippines, and saying, "We feel that the regulars should be sent to do the rest," the Oskaloosa (Kan.) Times of April 28 said editorially: "Who dares to set aside God's law, that is instilled into the heart of every mother, and say the 'volunteer' is more precious than the mother who has the regular in her arms? Who dares, also, set the Constitution at defiance, for it says all men are equal. This woman speaks of the regular as if they were volunteers, and sacrifice. She seems to forget that the regular is a volunteer; that the woman who lives next door to her may be the mother of a regular. Kansas mothers have allowed thousands of their sons to enter the regulars, to battle for their flag. According to her idea, the government should make a distinction in favor of the 'volunteer.' Why? Good soldiers are scarce and hard to keep, the government does not want to lose any more than it can help. On the other hand, 'volunteers' are like jackrabbits in the short-grass country; you can't shoot them as fast as they spring up. Honor the 'volunteers,' especially the Twentieth Kansas, for the real work they have done, but regret that the mothers of the Twentieth regulars (mostly Kansas boys and all volunteers), to their mothers. If any favors are to be shown, we are in favor and showing them to the 'regular fighting man.'"

Aguinaldo Interviewed.

[Baltimore American:] "Good morning, Mr. Aguinaldo." "Good morning, Mr. Aguinaldo." "Morning, but you'll have to excuse me, I'm busy running." "It is reported that you want to sue for peace." "Well, I would like to get a chance to sit down and talk it over with some one." "Do you think terms could be arranged, Mr. Aguinaldo?" "I wouldn't care so much about that part of it, but I could get my second wind." "What is your cross-country record, now, Mr. Aguinaldo?" "Well, with a running start, I've covered a mile in three minutes, flat. I can dog-trot it all day, though, at a pretty fast clip. I expect to make a great deal of it in the next few days, so you please some time in the muddy future." "What do you think of wireless telegraphy?" "It doesn't interest me at all. What I want some genius to do is to invent some wireless Americans, so that I may enjoy a wireless rest. Paraphrase: Brig-Gen. Funston coming down the pike with fireworks in his whiskers, and yelling like a circus callopie. I am tired in the next county. Good morning." "Good morning, Mr. Aguinaldo."

EX-TANK SEVENTEEN.

His Story of a Trip on the Olympia.
[New York Sun:] "I find it odd to reflect," said ex-Tank No. 17 of the Harlem Club of Former Alcoholic Delegates, "that I made a cruise on the Olympia, Admiral George Dewey's flagship, before Dewey ever trod her decks, and I wasn't in the navy, either."

No. 17 immediately found himself the object of the suspicious gaze of the whole club.
"Didn't have a bit of difficulty doing it, either, did you?" inquired No. 7, sarcastically. "All you had to do was to walk over the side, head for the captain's cabin and bunk up with the old man, eh? Say, what kind of people d'ye think you're—"

"I surely did winter hard in San Francisco that year," resumed No. 17. "I had got together a staff of steady beer pugs—three of them—in the fall, expectin' 'em to win me out enough to get back to New York with bells a-jingling, anyhow. But they all three went wrong. One of 'em stabbed a friend of his and got three years in San Quentin. Another went off on a fool after I had shaped him up for the ten-round go with a welterweight, and landed in the bug ward of a free hospital with the jims. The last of the bunch got himself poked out in the first round by a half-Mexico lightweight, and I passed him up. Didn't pull down a dollar from one of 'em. Then I got behind the curtain out at the track and found out about a good thing that was in preparation. I put a Willieboy that I met next to what was going to happen, and it went through, my rakedown being $800. I was in two minds about jumping back to New York right then, but I concluded to have one more whack at the ring on an all-right good thing that I'd heard about. I put the whole bundle, down to the last two-bit piece, in it. The nag got away two lengths behind the bunch and was beaten a nose on the wire, with 30 to 1 against him. I'd played him straight only. That put me out of business for fair."

"I got through the next couple of months on my wardrobe and my face, but it was hard going. San Francisco being the worst ever in lading out the frapped to the busted also-rans. Only had one suit, the trousers unpressed, and many the price of my collars and cuffs out, when I met up with the merry chap who was running a go-round on a lot near the Presidio, and making good too. San Francisco people will take a hack at anything that gives 'em a whirl, and he was pulling down pretty fair money on this merry-go-round. His name was Joe Casdale, and he was a queer duck, with all kinds of tattoo marks on his arms and chest, and enough information about the South Seas to make a book. He never coughed up anything about himself, however. He took me in to help him make the first day of his merry-go-round for $2 a day, and he was pulling down pretty fair money on this merry-go-round. I stayed along at that till business began to flatten out, and then Casdale asked if I wanted to go down to San Diego with him and the merry-go-round to take in the March flower festa. I went."

"Now, I'd been doing a dry stunt ever since I first got broke in San Francisco, which was nine months before, and this San Diego flower festa just naturally made me thirsty. A California flower festa is one of these rare, delightful Latin-European institutions that permit, and, in fact, require, all hands to come up to the beginning to the end of them. There's no side-stepping on the proposition that those people out there know how to enjoy themselves, and the way they cut loose for the annual flower festa is a warning to locusts. This San Diego blow-out lasted just one week, and there was simply nothing doing except for the start to the finish of it. It was, in fact, about the most colossal drunk I'd ever been into. It didn't take me off my feet the first day or two, but after that I began nibbling at the red Chianti of California, just to get into the game. I found it pretty hard to keep at my studies, the merry-go-round, which was coining money, and I got started on the California cochineal, and on the fourth afternoon I walked off for an hour or so and let Casdale run the fit-out himself. When I got back, pretty well hooted up, along toward 5 o'clock in the afternoon, I found the merry-go-round with a big sign on it, "Closed down," and a cop standing near told me that my boss was in jail. I hustled to the jug to see him, and found him smoking a pipe, as cool as a cucumber.

"It's all off," he told me. "They've nabbed me for a job of ship-swiping five years ago. They've got me dead to rights, and I'll do my little three or five trick over the road for it, for a certainty. I don't know whether they'll attach the merry-go-round or not, but if they don't you can have it and run it for yourself. You needn't bother about any lawyer. They've got me too."

"I took a brace and went back and opened up the show again. Took in nearly $40 that night and was booming along toward the hundred mark the next day when a deputy sheriff came along and attached the works. Now, at the moment when this deputy sheriff ducked behind the attachment on me I was riding about thirty of the sailors of the Olympia, which had gone into commission up at the Mare Island Navy Yard the month before and had been sent on her first trip, down to the San Diego flower festa to sort o' loosen up the machinery and get her oiled up. I'd been running in with the bluejackets every day since the beginning of the blow-out and they knew me. When this deputy sheriff flashed his paper, therefore, and I told my bunch of tars that it was all off, that the outfit had been grabbed from me, they asked whether I wanted to stand for it or not."

"I'm too strong to run the thing now, anyhow," I told 'em, and I want to do some riding on merry-go-rounds myself."

"The talk I put up seemed to make a bit with them, and away we went to help make the festa festive. "I don't remember much about the festa of that night, or the next day, or any of 'em for the rest of the week. I had a bodyguard of bluejackets, I know, all the time. I must have been thicker than thieves with 'em, for when I woke up on the Sunday morning following the final Saturday night finish of the festa, a couple with petty officers' badges on their arms, were prodding me in the ribs.

"They said one of them, a big older who had been all over the world in the navy, we've got to go aboard now to stand Sunday inspection. Liberty's up. You were giving up a boy-talk last night about walking back to 'Frisco. Is it up to you to do that?" "I got up, looked through my clothes, found a single two-bit piece, held it up, and said, 'It looks like it, don't it?' "Well, I'll tell you," said this kindly giant, "you're on the level with us fellows, and we want to handle you right. It's a long way by the footpath to San Francisco. D'ye want to take a cheap ride up to the ship?"

"What ship?" said I.

play-acting on my mettle. The young fellow in officer's clothes who called out the name of the returning liberty party just gave each of us a glance. When I had answered to John Crimmins' name I didn't waste any time joining the bunch up forward. The other was right behind me. I went down to the engine-room with my friend, and he spent half an hour or so in telling me what I was to do. I stood quarters and inspection that Sunday morning on the main deck under the name of John Crimmins and after that it was easy. I got Crimmins' seat at the coal-heavers' mess, and was told off for watch when the ship got under way for San Francisco.

SUCCEFUL BOYS' REPUBLIC.

An Interesting Experiment Being Made on a Pennsylvania Farm.

[Philadelphia Record:] As an educational and social experiment in practical philanthropy the juvenile reformatory recently established by William T. Carter of this city at the picturesque little hamlet of Redington, Lehigh county, is an attractive and promising success. The plan of this little republic, which has developed in the fifty boys and girls gathered from the city the sense of individual responsibility, industrial independence, thrift and business sagacity, and above all, it is a means of teaching the boys what the boys of today in our country most need—respect for law.

The plan of this little republic, which has modeled its civil institutions so closely after those of the United States, is intended to give an excellent training to its citizens in civil duties. It is claimed to be a great stride forward in solving the problems of society as affecting those whose early educational, social and moral training has been neglected or prevented. The republic's constitution is modeled after that of the United States, and the laws are those of Pennsylvania, plus such laws as are enacted by the citizens themselves. The laws are made by a legislature, chosen every month by ballot.

When the miniature nation was organized two months ago a president was chosen, with absolute veto power on the action of Congress, and vested with the other executive duties. Both houses of the legislative branch of the government are elected by popular vote; senators for two months and members of the lower house for one month. The judiciary branch of the government is composed of a president, criminal and civil courts, presided over by judges appointed by the president, and all citizens charged with crime are entitled to a trial by jury. Imprisonment and fines are imposed as penalties for crimes. The most important feature of the government has proven to be a permanent police force, the members being chosen from the people by ballot.

their moneyless condition soon brings them to the paupers' table, which is excluded, and at which the plainest fare is dispensed. No poor tax, except for the sick, who are unable to work, is imposed. Paupers are compelled to do a certain amount of work for lodging and meals.

The working hours are from 8:30 until 12. The afternoons are devoted to recreation and study. Farming the 100-acre farm is the chief occupation. All the boys have their regular occupations, such as farm labor, landscape gardening, carpenter work and light labor in the adjoining stone quarries. Girls employ themselves at sewing, millinery, laundry work, cooking and household duties. All citizens who work at anything receive good wages—15, 12 and 10 cents per hour, according to the grade of work. The citizens are required to pay out of their earnings for board and lodgings. Nothing is provided free of charge. All meals must be paid for, and lodgings also has its price. The coin of the republic is a circular piece of tin, with the different denominations stamped thereon. The Girl of To-day will be the woman of to-morrow. She does not know it, perhaps her mother does not fully understand it, but between the "to-day" when she is a girl and the "to-morrow" when she will be a woman, her life's happiness and health are in the balance. If she is to be a full-breasted, strong, healthy woman she must develop rightly now. She is at a crisis. She needs more strength, more blood to tide it over. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are the one medicine that will give her the strength and make the new blood.

Our new book, PLAIN TALKS TO WOMEN, explains why these pills are of special benefit to growing girls. A copy will be sent to any address. FREE on request.

Miss Frankie Hathaway, of Sixteenth Street, Holland, Mich., was recently cured of anemia in a remarkable manner. "I am 21 years old," she said, "and when 16 was taken so ill that the family doctor was called to attend me. I was pale and weak and did not gain under his care. Other treatment brought no better result and by the time I was nineteen years old I was so weak that I could not walk across the floor. I was terribly emaciated and my skin had lost all color. The doctor in attendance had pronounced the disease anemia. About this time one of my friends advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I bought a box and before I had taken all of the pills I found that they were doing me good. Appetite increased and the healthy color began to show in my cheeks and lips. I continued to use the pills until I had taken fifteen boxes when I found myself permanently cured. Since then I have never had any return of my old trouble and cannot remember when I was so strong and healthy as now. I know that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People saved my life, and I believe that no other medicine could have done it. I advise all my friends to try the pills and always find that they are benefited by them." FRANKIE HATHAWAY.

Sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., on receipt of price, fifty cents per box; six boxes, $2.50.

FLUKE LOCATED.

Knocked Down and Robbed in Seattle, After Receiving Money.

C. M. Fluke, a former Angeleno, went to the Klondike in January, 1898, and arrived in Seattle from Dawson City in January last. On April 28 his brothers in Los Angeles received a dispatch signed by him, asking that $20 be sent by telegraph. The request was complied with and the money was paid by the telegraph company, but nothing further was heard from Fluke, and recently his wife, who lives in Ogden, Utah, telegraphed to his brothers in this city, asking for information of her husband. His brothers became alarmed, lest some accident had befallen him, and on May 11, F. W. Fluke left for Seattle to institute a search for his relative.

Yesterday the brother remaining in Los Angeles stated that on the night of April 28, after C. M. Fluke had received the money by telegraph, he was knocked down and robbed by thugs. He remained unconscious for fourteen hours, from the effects of the beating he had received, but was later placed on the train for Ogden, Utah.

On arriving at The Dalles, Or., he was too weak to travel further, and was detained there until he had recovered sufficiently to resume his journey. He is now at home with his wife in Ogden.
